Arts Education: VSA Vermont offers inclusive arts education workshops in visual arts, music, theater and dance to Vermonters of all ages and abilities, in every county of Vermont. VSAVT workshops are designed to offer participants opportunities to find, develop and make use of their strongest, most confident, creative voices for fuller participation in community life. All our programs are collaborative and help our partnering organizations achieve their goals. For instance, VSAVT partners with the Vermont State Department for Children and Families' Child Development Division to conduct our Start With The Arts program consisting of inclusive arts-based literacy workshops at 60 isolated, home based childcare sites each year serving low-income children of all abilities. Children in that program advance in skills measured by State education standards in literacy and arts as well as State Child Development goals for school readiness. Other programs in after school settings and in community settings for adults offer participants skill development in either State educational standards or State goals for Individual Service Plans. VSAVT's arts education programs directly serve 765 children and 720 adults each year.

Professional Development: VSA Vermont offers professional development workshops for artists who learn inclusive teaching methods, and for educators and social service providers who learn to use the arts as a way to more fully engage their students or those receiving services. As an example, there is a large professional development component in VSAVT's Start With The Arts program described in Arts Education, above.
Childcare providers completing professional development in Start With The Arts receive 20 credits useful in achieving Vermont State mandatory Core Competencies for Early Childhood Educators and can apply credits earned to applications for the State's Step Ahead for Recognition System and increased subsidies, and can also apply their credits toward maintaining Specialized Home Care status. Other VSAVT arts education programs also offer a component of professional development for program partner staff. An additional component of VSAVT's professional development program is assistance to artists with disabilities in furthering career goals in the arts. An example of that work is the ongoing professional development and performance opportunities for members of VSA Vermont's Awareness Theater Company, comprised of adults with developmental disabilities and other community theater artists interested in inclusive programming. VSAVT's professional development programs directly serve 460 adults annually.

Other Programs: VSA Vermont conducts Public Awareness and Outreach programs that include our e-newsletter, public access television broadcasts and special events that promote awareness of the skills and contributions of Vermonters with disabilities as well as awareness of the importance of the arts in providing the means for people of all abilities to use their strongest voices for full community participation. It also includes the public displays and performances of artwork created in VSAVT's education programs (not duplicated in number from Education, above). VSA Vermont offers fiduciary agent services for other programs that do not have their own 501(c)3 status and that fall within the scope of arts and/or disability services. Safe Art's programs focusing on trauma associated with domestic violence and New Boston Film's production on the history of Pilobolus Dance Company are examples of those fiduciary agent services. VSA Vermont directly serves 625 children and 6000 adults as live audience members at performances and exhibits.

artists with disabilities presented at those venues and the number of audience members with disabilities welcomed and accommodated. In addition, VSA Vermont helps develop new audiences for the arts with commissioned projects, such as VSA Vermont's 2-year commission from the Vermont Center for Crime Victim Services, to create a traveling show by the Awareness Theater Company specifically to get the word out to New American populations about services available should anyone in those communities become a victim of a crime. Live and recorded performances are conducted in non-traditional performance spaces and are translated for audiences for whom English is a second language. This is an excellent example of the way that accessibility for people with disabilities is increasingly recognized as accessibility for numerous populations. Within this and other similar projects, adults with developmental disabilities take on a leadership role in addressing issues of concern to communities in which they live. VSA VT directly serves 86 children and 216 adults in Cultural Access programs annually.
